Laurel Farmer Sees Big Tax Increase Under Prohibition

The following statement by C. D. Haskell, Laurel, Nebraska, farmer and vice-president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, member of the Committee of Men and Women Against Prohibition, was given to the newspapers of the state, September 14, 1944:

Every branch of state and local government probably would suffer if we remove the alcoholic beverage industry from the tax rolls. Tax authorities estimate that Nebraska collects about $3,500,000 annually from beer and liquors in state, county and local taxes and fees.

Not only would the state lose this annual revenue, which would have to be made up from other sources, but additional hundreds of thousands of dollars would be needed to set up and maintain some kind of enforcement organization throughout the state. Government costs in every county, village and city would probably be increased.

The state liquor tax paid $2,216,173.26 for Old Age Assistance and other functions of the State Assistance Department in the fiscal year 1942-1943. I know the people would not want to do away with state assistance, so this revenue would have to be replaced, which would mean an increased property tax or some new form of tax, such as a sales tax or income tax.

Many people do not realize the importance of the liquor tax revenues to the state. Many of us forget that the Federal Government matches the spirituous beverage taxes used for old age assistance, which means that the actual loss to Nebraska would run around $4,500,000 if the tax were not replaced. It would have to be replaced, no question about it. And this means higher taxes, new taxes for everyone.

Another thing few people realize: County, city and other governmental subdivisions of the state also collect large amounts of revenue from the industry, in addition to the direct beverage tax collected by the state government. Approximately $500,000 yearly is paid to counties and cities in license fees and occupational taxes by retail dealers.

To all of these revenues must be added real estate, personal and miscellaneous taxes paid by brewers, distributors, dealers, etc. This makes a total in the neighborhood of $3,500,000 a year. This is not "pin money." It's big money to me, anyway.

I do not believe the people of Nebraska want to deliberately vote a big increase in general taxes on themselves. But that is just what they will be doing if they go back to prohibition in November. History plainly shows prohibition is not enforceable and doesn't prohibit anyway, and would require hundreds of thousands of dollars to make even a show at enforcement.

November 7th Election

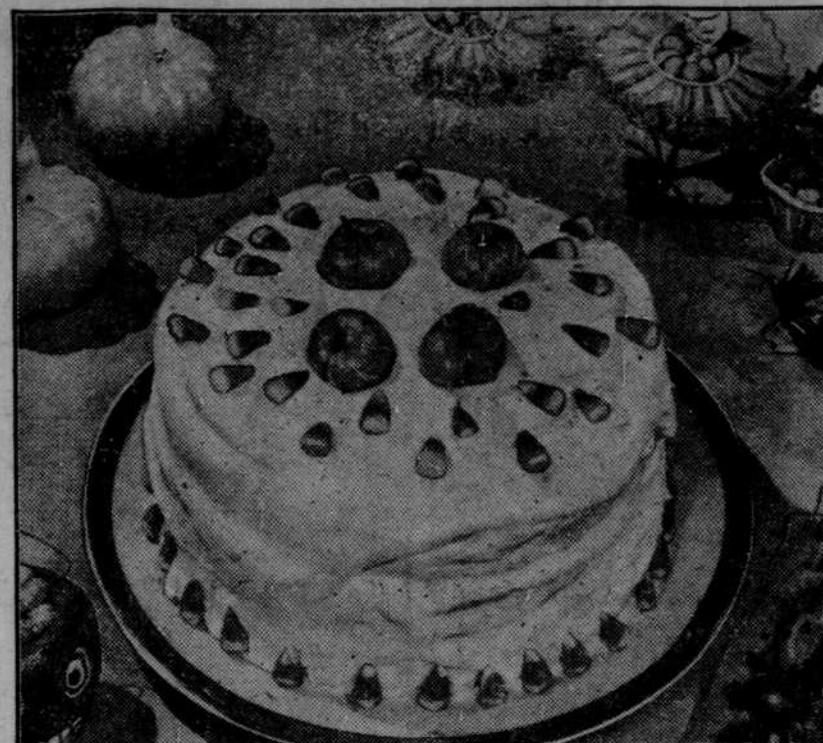

We truly hope everyone has registered as the Nov. 7 election is just a few days away and also think very carefully before voting. Our memory takes our minds back to many incidents that our race has been involved in during the present administration. One of our race was indorsed for a very important government position and he was kept waiting before he was confirmed. One of our group was thrown out of the U. S. capitol when he went there on business and quite a number of our soldier boys were beaten and some of them killed and with all of this humiliation we have done our bit. Bought our war bonds and stamps and help conserve on food and clothing and working overtime.

A Pumpkin Cake for Hallow'en

OF COURSE you can afford to make a cake with fortified margarine whether you are counting ration points or pennies. Here is a recipe quick and easy to follow—a delicious spice cake with all the trimmings.

Hallow'en Spice Cake
1/2 cup fortified margarine 1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 cup (firmly packed) brown sugar 1/2 tsp. salt
1 egg 1/2 tsp. each of ginger, mace, allspice
2 1/2 cups flour 1 cup thick sour milk
Cream the margarine, add the sugar gradually, beating well as you add. Add the unbeaten egg and beat well. Sift together the dry ingredients and add alternately with the sour milk, about one-third of each at a time. Bake in two 10-inch or three 9-inch layer pans, greased and lined with paper; in moderate oven about 25 minutes. Put together with Seven-Minute Frosting or with Pastel Jelly Frosting.

Pastel Jelly Frosting
1 cup tart apple jelly Dash of salt
1 egg, whites unbeaten Dash of powdered mace

Turn jelly into rather large mixing bowl and fit bowl over saucepan of hot water. Add egg whites and the dash of salt. Beat with rotary beater until jelly is completely dissolved. Remove pan from over fire and continue beating until mixture is stiff enough to stand in peaks. Cool slightly before spreading on cake.

Note: this is a beautiful fluffy frosting, a sugar-saver and easy to make but it does not stand up as well as Seven-Minute Frosting and should be used on cakes to be eaten that same day.

Candy Pumpkin Decorations
1 cup brown sugar 1/2 cup milk
2 tbs. fortified margarine 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Dash of salt 1 tsp. vanilla
Measure sugar, margarine, salt and milk into heavy saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Boil slowly three minutes. Cool to lukewarm, then add the confectioners' sugar gradually along with the vanilla. Shape into little pumpkins and use as decoration on top of cake.

more vigilance on the part of Nebraska motorists and by its ever increasing effort to further safety education.

Heading the list of the Patrol's September activities was the issuance of 1439 violation cards, which are courtesy repair cards for equipment violations. 910 motorists in distress were assisted, while 555 dangerous obstructions were removed from the highways. Following its policy, the Patrol gave 425 written warnings for violations that were considered not serious enough to warrant arrests. 598 other motorists made such dangerous violations that arrests were necessary. These arrests included 122 for speeding over the state speed limit, 54 for reckless driving, 48 for driving while intoxicated, and 42 for stop sign violations. Stolen cars recovered numbered 12.

In its safety education efforts the Patrol gave 27 safety talks to schools and civic groups. Through safety education in the schools and the Patrol's safety activities, many motorists and pedestrians have become safety minded.

Nebraska should be proud of her record for this year, especially when 14 lives have been saved and the nation as a whole has had a 6 percent increase in accident fatalities. Let's continue this splendid record, each motorist doing his part in preventing accidents.
